

THE COOPERATIVE CENTER FOR STUDY ABROAD
CCSA SUMMER 2014

VISIT US AT

CCSA IS A CONSORTIUM OF AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES, WHICH OFFERS STUDY ABROAD PROGRAMS AND INTERNSHIPS IN ENGLISH-SPEAKING REGIONS.

CCSA MEMBER INSTITUTIONS-

Currently, CCSA has 24 member institutions in Alabama, Indiana, Kentucky, Mississippi, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota and Tennessee.

A not-for-profit organization, CCSA is headquartered at Belmont University in Nashville, Tennessee. Dr. Maggie Monteverde, Executive Director, with the assistance of her staff and guided by policies determined by the CCSA Board of Trustees, annually develops, plans and coordinates study abroad programs in Australia, Belize, England, Ireland and Scotland. Programs to such other English-speaking areas as Canada, Ghana, Hong Kong, India, Jamaica, New Zealand and South Africa are also offered from time to time.

Participants can receive higher education credit (undergraduate, graduate and continuing education, etc.) for successfully completing the CCSA program in which they are enrolled. The classes on CCSA short-term programs are taught by faculty from consortium-member schools. CCSA also offers internships in Dublin, Ireland, as well as semester programs at University of East Anglia and University of Manchester in England. Special non-credit programs, such as choir tours and alumni trips, are planned in English-speaking regions as requested.

WHO CAN GO?

All undergraduate and graduate students in good academic and disciplinary standing are eligible to participate for academic credit in any CCSA program. Regular or part-time students at CCSA member institutions must register for courses through their home institutions. Participants from institutions outside the consortium register as visiting students at Belmont University. CCSA program courses are part of the regular course offerings of member universities; therefore, students may apply for any student loans or grants for which they would normally have eligibility.

HISTORY

In 1982, in an effort to address a common desire to share resources and services throughout the state of Kentucky, a group of faculty and administrators from Eastern Kentucky University, Morehead State University, Murray State University, Northern Kentucky University and Western Kentucky University met to cooperatively plan, administer and teach low cost, quality and academically sound study abroad programs in Great Britain. Hence, the Cooperative Center for Study in Britain (CCSB) was established.

The consortium's first offerings—one, a travel program to various parts of England and Scotland and the other, a multi-week program based at Queen Elizabeth Hall in London—were made available to students in the summer of 1983. Initially headquartered at Western Kentucky University, CCSB moved to Northern Kentucky University in 1989. In September 1996, as a reflection of the successful expansion of its programs to destinations beyond Great Britain, including Australia and Ireland, CCSB changed its name to CCSA, the Cooperative Center for Study Abroad.

By the mid 1990's, membership in the consortium had grown to over twenty member schools, including both private and public institutions, and while a core constituency of schools continues to be located in the state of Kentucky, the consortium today includes members from ten states. In 2009, Belmont University in Nashville, Tennessee became the host institution, where CCSA continues to reside.

The start of the new millennium saw programs offered in a variety of destinations where English is an official and/or historic language, including Belize, Canada, Ghana, Hong Kong, India, Jamaica, New Zealand and South Africa, as well as, of course, its original sites in the British Isles. The intervening years also saw the debut of a variety of CCSA-sponsored internship and semester options, such as an 8-week internship in Dublin and direct enrollment partnerships with the University of East Anglia and Manchester University. An important constant throughout the expansion of both its membership and destinations continues to be the offering of programs that place academic soundness, good value for money and participant safety at the center of all its activities.

Today, CCSA offers programs on four continents, sending at least five hundred students and faculty abroad each year. Course offerings have also grown extensively to include subjects as different as Marine Biology and Fashion Design, Watercolor Painting and Nursing, in addition to regular offerings in Theatre, Business, Psychology, English, History and Political Science. As CCSA enters into its fourth decade, the consortium looks forward to expanding its membership, as well as increasing the diversity of its program offerings, while maintaining the quality of its signature programs in the United Kingdom.

Other Programs

Find out more about our other programs listed below by going to our website – www.ccsa.cc

WINTER PROGRAMS – AUSTRALIA, LONDON/DUBLIN, LONDON WINTER

Each year during winter break, CCSA offers a number of short, intensive study abroad programs to a variety of sites in English-speaking countries across the globe.

All programs depart December 26 and return approximately two weeks later. While each program offers a unique set of courses and experiences particular to the sites visited, all involve focused course activities, field trips and cultural enrichment activities which, when combined with the production of final course-related projects submitted after return stateside, enable participants to earn up to 3 semester hours of credit.

All courses are taught by faculty from CCSA member institutions. One does not have to be a student at a member institution to participate in a winter program.

SEMESTER PROGRAMS – UNIVERSITY OF EAST ANGLIA, UNIVERSITY OF MANCHESTER

CCSA has developed partnerships with two of the leading universities in the UK to offer our students the opportunity to enroll directly in their programs as full-time visiting students for a semester or even a year.

The University of East Anglia, located in the historic medieval town of Norwich, was recently voted by English university students to be among the highest in student satisfaction overall, while its programs in Environmental Sciences and Creative Writing have achieved international recognition.

CCSA's other semester partner, the University of Manchester, is also internationally recognized for excellence in research and teaching in a wide variety of disciplines, including music and biology. Regarded by many as the "Second City" of the UK, Manchester is a leader in the production of edgy music and youth-oriented culture. Study abroad students may participate in the university's Leadership and Service Certificate program, which adds involvement in the local community to more traditional academic coursework.

INTERNSHIP PROGRAMS – DUBLIN

For students interested in giving their resumes a global edge, CCSA offers internship programs in Dublin, Ireland. Placements matched to the specific professional focus and educational background of each applicant are arranged by CCSA's internship partner in this world-leading city. Housing is included in the program price.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Belize: an English-speaking country in the heart of Central America, home to one of the greatest concentrations of biodiversity on the planet, dotted with magnificent archaeological remnants of the Mayan people and populated by their descendants. But diversity in Belize doesn't end with its biological wonders, as you will discover for yourself by living among the people of Orange Walk on the CCSA Belize Anthropology Program.

By combining this intensive study abroad experience with course-specific directed study activities preceding and/or following the travel portion of the program, students may earn three semester hours of college credit.

Please carefully read the Program Details section for additional information pertinent to all CCSA programs.

BELIZE ANTHROPOLOGY

DATES: JUNE 3, 2014 - JUNE 26, 2014

PRICE INCLUDING AIRFARE: $3995

APPLICATION DEADLINE: February 21, 2014

EARLY APPLICATION DEADLINE: $100 Discount for applications received by February 7, 2014

CREDIT: 3 hours

PROGRAM COSTS

The price of the Belize Anthropology Program is $3995. This includes:

- round-trip transportation from designated cities
- airport transfers to and from the accommodation site
- internal transportation between program sites
- accommodations
- ISIC (International Student Identification Card)
- program excursions
- health and emergency evacuation insurance
- daily breakfast and dinner

All prices are subject to change in the event of unanticipated increases in airfares, monetary exchange rates or other changes in program costs. In some cases, program items may be deleted in lieu of a price increase.

ADDITIONAL COSTS

Participants should budget approximately $200-$300 for pre-departure vaccinations and medications. Additionally, approximately $150 should be budgeted for textbooks and other required course materials. Daily breakfast and dinner, as well as most expenses related to course activities, are included in the program price. Participants should budget $250 - $300 for personal expenses and meals not included in the program price, as well as additional funds for souvenirs, etc. based on personal spending habits.

Tuition is not included in the program costs detailed above. Please refer to Registration/Tuition & Fees in the Program Details section for additional information.

ACCOMMODATIONS

Participants in the Belize Anthropology Program reside in air-conditioned hotel accommodations. Housing is based primarily on multi-bedded rooms.

PAYMENT SCHEDULE & DEADLINES

Applicants are encouraged to apply well in advance of the February 21, 2014 application deadline, as priority is given to early applications. Applications submitted on or before February 7, 2014 receive a $100 deduction in the program price, reflected in a reduced application fee, due at time of application.

- Non-refundable Application Fee: $200 if received on or before February 7, 2014; $300 for applications received after February 7, 2014. The application fee, which must be paid by credit card at time of application, serves as a deposit toward the overall program price.
- First Payment: $1700 due on March 7, 2014.
- Final Payment: $1995 due on April 4, 2014.

Effective October 1, 2013: As a 501(c)3 educational organization, CCSA will be assessing a 3% surcharge on all credit card transactions. This surcharge will be automatically added to each credit card payment.

Please familiarize yourself with the Payment Information and Cancellation Policy in the Program Details section.

Shortly after submission of the online application and fee and completion of the local CCSA Campus Representative Approval Recommendation, applicants will receive an application approval notification. During the online application process, students from non-consortium schools will receive instruction regarding additional application requirements.

An official letter of acceptance into the program will be sent electronically approximately three weeks after the program application deadline, at which time final approval of course selection will be confirmed in your online application.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Following is a description of the course of study offered for this CCSA program. Applicants from any member institution may register for this course. Students are encouraged to email faculty to learn more about the class. Course prerequisite(s) must be completed or, where applicable, waived by the course instructor, prior to the program's departure date.

ANTHROPOLOGY

Ethnographic Field School in Belize

This course immerses students in a culture and trains them in contemporary anthropological field methods. Students will gain valuable research skills to apply anthropology in their future careers (e.g., applied anthropology) and an appreciation for cultural diversity and will further their personal growth. Students will learn about the local culture by doing participant-observation and conducting ethnographic interviews in a community-based project. Potential research topics include, but are not limited to, economic, social, political and kinship systems as well as the cultural constructions of identity, race, gender, religion and art.

Prerequisite: 3 hours Anthropology or consent of instructor
(3 cr. hrs., UD/G, Dr. Douglas Hume [humed1@nku.edu] Northern Kentucky University)

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Belize: an English-speaking country in the heart of Central America, home to one of the greatest concentrations of biodiversity on the planet, dotted with magnificent archaeological remnants of the Mayan people and populated by their descendants. Join the CCSA Belize Biology Program and discover Belize with its rainforests, ruins and reefs, the largest in the Americas, truly a world of wonder. Two special features of this program are the opportunity to snorkel a World Heritage site and an overnight visit to Tikal in Guatemala, one of the wonders of the Mayan world.

By combining this intensive study abroad experience with course-specific directed study activities preceding and/or following the travel portion of the program, students may earn three semester hours of college credit.

Please carefully read the Program Details section for additional information pertinent to all CCSA programs.

BIOLOGY

Tropical Biology

Experience two of Earth's most diverse ecosystems by exploring both a tropical rainforest and coral reef in Belize. Study the fascinating biotic and abiotic features that characterize these systems and observe the complex interactions of their flora and fauna. In the rainforest, see iguanas, howler monkeys and leaf cutter ants while gaining insight to the Mayan culture and its use of medicinal plants. On the coral reef, the longest in the Western Hemisphere, swim with brilliantly colored reef fish among the diverse assemblage of corals, sponges and other invertebrates.

Prerequisite: one semester of Biology or consent of instructor
(3 cr. hrs., UD, Dr. Tracy Livingston [tracy\_livingston@georgetowncollege.edu] Georgetown College)

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Join CCSA as the Ireland Early Program visits both Irelands, North and South. While based in Dublin, the capital of the Republic of Ireland, we'll uncover the cultural significance behind Glendalough, Trinity College and places made famous by such writers as James Joyce and Jonathan Swift. Then we'll head North, tracking the history of Ireland, ancient and modern, stopping at the magnificent coastal World Heritage Site, The Giant's Causeway, and visiting locations associated more recently with the Troubles in Belfast and Derry. Then it's off to the beauty of the mountains, valleys and islands of the West of Ireland where Gaelic and traditional music can sometimes still be heard. Discover the beauty and the tragedy, the history and the hope that define this land still struggling to be united.

By combining this intensive study abroad experience with course-specific directed study activities preceding and/or following the travel portion of the program, students may earn three semester hours of college credit.

Please carefully read the Program Details section for additional information pertinent to all CCSA programs.

IRELAND EARLY

DATES: MAY 15, 2014 – MAY 30, 2014

PRICE: $3095 WITHOUT AIRFARE; $3995 INCLUDING AIRFARE

APPLICATION DEADLINE: February 21, 2014

EARLY APPLICATION DEADLINE: $100 discount for applications received by February 7, 2014

CREDIT: 3 hours

PROGRAM COSTS

For those making their own flight arrangements, the price of the Ireland Early Program is $3095. Participants arranging their own air transportation must contact the CCSA Central Office before initiating travel arrangements and must file a copy of their flight itinerary with the office after reservations have been made. In making transportation arrangements please note that the in-country portion of the Ireland Early Program begins and ends in Dublin on May 16 and May 30, respectively. Airport transfers to and from the accommodation site are provided ONLY to those participants for whom CCSA has arranged air travel.

For those traveling on flights arranged by CCSA, the price of the Ireland Early Program is $3995, which includes round-trip transportation from designated cities as well as airport transfers to and from the accommodation site.

Included in the program price for all participants are:

- internal transportation between program sites
- accommodations
- ISIC (International Student Identification Card)
- most program excursions
- health and emergency evacuation insurance
- daily breakfast and some additional meals

All prices are subject to change in the event of unanticipated increases in airfares, monetary exchange rates or other changes in program costs. In some cases, program items may be deleted in lieu of a price increase.

ADDITIONAL COSTS

Most meals, other than breakfast, are at the participant's own expense. A minimum of $600 should be budgeted for meals and additional course-related transportation and entrance fees not covered in the program price. Additionally, approximately $150 should be budgeted for textbooks and other required course materials. Participants should also budget additional funds for personal expenses such as souvenirs and independent travel, based upon their individual spending habits.

Tuition is not included in the program costs detailed above. Please refer to Registration/Tuition & Fees in the Program Details section for additional information.

ACCOMMODATIONS

Participants in the Ireland Early Program reside in dormitories and local hotels. Accommodations are based primarily on double occupancy with occasional use of multi-bedded rooms; single rooms may be available at an additional price.

PAYMENT SCHEDULE & DEADLINES

Applicants are encouraged to apply well in advance of the February 21, 2014 application deadline, as priority is given to early applications. Applications submitted on or before February 7, 2014 receive a $100 deduction in the program price, reflected in a reduced application fee, due at time of application.

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

The following are descriptions of the courses of study offered for this CCSA program. Applicants may register for courses offered by professors from any member institution. Students are encouraged to email faculty to learn more about the classes. Before applying for any course, refer to the course description regarding prerequisites. Course prerequisite(s) must be completed or, where applicable, waived by the course instructor, prior to the program's departure date.

COMMUNICATIONS/JOURNALISM International News Writing & Reporting

What does it take to be an international news journalist, responsible for covering anything from political revolution to economic upheaval to climate change to war? This course provides students with the opportunity to put themselves "in the shoes" of a contemporary foreign news correspondent. The course is interactive, and students will have the opportunity to explore a range of different topics in Northern Ireland, while developing the skills they need to take a story from conception to publication. Close attention will be paid to writing and critical thinking, two essential qualities of international news coverage.

(3 cr. hrs., LD, Dr. Patrick G. Farabaugh [pfarabaugh@francis.edu] Saint Francis University)

ENGLISH The Irish Literary Tradition from The Tain to Toibin

Ireland is a small country with an outsized literary tradition. This course is designed to bring the genius, value and profound fun of that tradition into focus. We will read "greatest hits" of Irish Literature, starting with the tragicomic exploits of Cuchulain in The Tain Bo Culaigne and moving on to important works by Swift, Yeats, Synge and several contemporary authors. All of our reading will be enriched by visits to relevant sites of archaeological, mythical and historical significance. Enroll in this course to learn more about Ireland's culture through the imaginations of writers who were inspired by its complex history and stunning natural beauty.

Prerequisite: Students enrolled for lower division (LD) credit should have completed the freshman composition requirements specified by their institution. Students enrolled for upper division (UD) credit should additionally have completed one semester of World or British Literature Survey.

(3 cr. hrs., LD/UD, Dr. Barbara J. Burch [bburch@georgetowncollege.edu] Georgetown College)

PSYCHOLOGY Positive Psychology: A Cross-Cultural Study of Well-Being

Positive psychology is the study of the "good life." Psychologists are becoming more interested in the importance of positive emotions, institutions and workplaces. Use the principles of this new field of psychology to study the people and environment of this fascinating country. Potential site visits include the Famine Museum, the National Museum of Ireland, Microsoft Dublin and An Droichead cultural center. Learn about the resilience of the Irish people following the Great Famine and economic bust of the early 2000s. Discussions, guest lectures and a variety of readings will be utilized for comprehension of course content. Come away with an appreciation of the importance of resilience and well-being in working toward a fulfilling, meaningful life.

Prerequisite: Introduction to Psychology (one semester)

(3 cr. hrs., UD, Ms. Rachael Clark [clarkr7@nku.edu] Northern Kentucky University)

SOCIAL WORK History of Orphanages & Reformatories: What Went Wrong?

This is an opportunity for students to understand the history of institutional violence against women and children in Ireland. Students will read about and visit sites such as the industrial schools and the Magdalen laundry (workhouse) where children were forced into slavery under horrendous conditions. Students will also learn about Ireland's Magdalen Asylums that served as a detention for women prostitutes and The Holy Saints Magdalen Home for Wayward Girls and Fallen Women where unmarried pregnant women were sent in shame until they delivered, after which the church took their babies away for adoption.

(3 cr. hrs., UD, Dr. Cynthia A. Faulkner [c.faulkner@moreheadstate.edu] Morehead State University)

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Ireland: its green hills, quaint villages, dramatic coast and vibrant capital call to people around the globe to visit and often to return home. Ireland's rich and complex history helps to explain both the love many people feel for the Emerald Isle and why more people of Irish descent live outside its shores than in it. Join CCSA for two weeks in July to explore this land to which so many Americans can trace at least some of their ancestry. Starting in Dublin, we'll explore the city immortalized by James Joyce, visit the ancient monastery at Glendalough and hear the music that pours into the streets on Temple Bar. Then we'll take the southern route through picturesque fishing villages, across valleys dotted with cottages and flocks of sheep, experiencing such places as Cork and Limerick. Finally, in the West of Ireland, burial place of ancient heroes and W. B. Yeats, we'll reach some of the last outposts of the Gaelic language which gave birth to the Celtic culture that still defines this modern nation.

By combining this intensive study abroad experience with course-specific directed study activities preceding and/or following the travel portion of the program, students may earn three semester hours of college credit. Please carefully read the Program Details section for additional information pertinent to all CCSA programs.

IRELAND LATE

DATES: JULY 7, 2014 – JULY 22, 2014

PRICE: $3095 WITHOUT AIRFARE; $4295 INCLUDING AIRFARE

APPLICATION DEADLINE: February 21, 2014

EARLY APPLICATION DEADLINE: $100 discount for applications received by February 7, 2014

CREDIT: 3 hours

PROGRAM COSTS

For those making their own flight arrangements, the price of the Ireland Late Program is $3095. Participants arranging their own air transportation must contact the CCSA Central Office before initiating travel arrangements and must file a copy of their flight itinerary with the office after reservations have been made. In making transportation arrangements please note that the in-country portion of the Ireland Late Program begins and ends in Dublin on July 8 and July 22, respectively. Airport transfers to and from the accommodation site are provided ONLY to those participants for whom CCSA has arranged air travel.

For those traveling on a flight arranged by CCSA, the price of the Ireland Late Program is $4295, which includes round-trip transportation from designated cities as well as airport transfers to and from the accommodation site.

Included in the program price for all participants are:

- internal transportation between program sites
- accommodations
- ISIC (International Student Identification Card)
- most program excursions
- health and emergency evacuation insurance
- daily breakfast and some additional meals

All prices are subject to change in the event of unanticipated increases in airfares, monetary exchange rates or other changes in program costs. In some cases, program items may be deleted in lieu of a price increase.

ADDITIONAL COSTS

Most meals, other than breakfast, are at the participant's own expense. A minimum of $600 should be budgeted for meals and additional course-related transportation and entrance fees not covered in the program price. Additionally, approximately $150 should be budgeted for textbooks and other required course materials. Participants should also budget additional funds for personal expenses such as souvenirs and independent travel, based upon their individual spending habits.

Tuition is not included in the program costs detailed above. Please refer to Registration/Tuition & Fees in the Program Details section for additional information.

ACCOMMODATIONS

Participants in the Ireland Late Program reside in dormitories and local hotels. Accommodations are based primarily on double occupancy with occasional use of multi-bedded rooms; single rooms may be available at an additional price.

PAYMENT SCHEDULE & DEADLINES

Applicants are encouraged to apply well in advance of the February 21, 2014 application deadline, as priority is given to early applications. Applications submitted on or before February 7, 2014 receive a $100 deduction in the program price, reflected in a reduced application fee, due at time of application.

- Non-refundable Application Fee: $200 if received on or before February 7, 2014; $300 for applications received after February 7, 2014. The application fee, which must be paid by credit or debit card at time of application, serves as a deposit toward the overall program price.
- First Payment: $2000 due on March 7, 2014.
- Final Payment: $1995 for those traveling with the CCSA group, $795 for those making their own arrangements, due on April 4, 2014; the single room supplement, if applicable, is also due at this time.

Effective October 1, 2013: As a 501(c)3 educational organization, CCSA will be assessing a 3% surcharge on all credit card transactions. This surcharge will be automatically added to each credit card payment.

Please familiarize yourself with the Payment Information and Cancellation Policy in the Program Details section.

Shortly after submission of the online application and fee and completion of the local CCSA Campus Representative Approval Recommendation, applicants will receive an application approval notification. During the online application process, students from non-consortium schools will receive instruction regarding additional application requirements.

An official letter of acceptance into the program will be sent electronically approximately three weeks after the program application deadline, at which time final approval of course selection will be confirmed in your on-line application.

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

The following are descriptions of the courses of study offered for this CCSA program. Applicants may register for courses offered by professors from any member institution. Students are encouraged to email faculty to learn more about the classes. Before applying for any course, refer to the course description regarding prerequisites. Course prerequisite(s) must be completed, or where applicable waived by the course instructor, prior to the program's departure date.

ART

The Art of the Illuminated Manuscript

Dublin, Ireland is home to the Book of Kells, an illuminated manuscript considered one of mankind's greatest artworks. It has inspired generations of artists including literary giants like James Joyce. In this class, students will use visual and verbal journaling to collect imagery and inspiration from Dublin, Cork and Galway while making day trips to many of Ireland's great sites. Trinity College, Glendalough, Blarney Castle, the Cliffs of Moher, the Aran Islands and Waterford Crystalworks are just some of the sites this class may visit. Irish mythology will be emphasized and participants will develop illuminated manuscripts based on their journals. (3 cr. hrs., LD, Prof. Daniel Johnson [dan.johnson@belmont.edu] Belmont University)

COMMUNICATIONS

Risk & Crisis Communication

The purpose of this course is to compare and contrast approaches to risk and crisis communication and emergency management in different countries and media markets. While in Dublin, students will visit public relations agencies that provide crisis communication consultation, emergency planning and response agencies/organizations, and select businesses and media outlets. Special emphasis is placed on crisis planning, media relationships, image restoration, ethical responses, organizational learning and community and organizational preparedness and response.

Prerequisite: Introductory Course in Communications, Journalism or Management, or permission of instructor

(3 cr. hrs., UD, Dr. Shari Veil [shari.veil@uky.edu] University of Kentucky)

ENGLISH

Landscape & the Literary Imagination in 20th Century Irish Literature

Joyce's Dublin and Yeats' Galway--these are just two of the places and authors we will read and experience in this course, in the heart of the nation that produced so many important authors and literary works. Irish poetry, the Irish short story and Irish drama live in a nation known for both conflict and literary imagination, represented especially powerfully in the work of Seamus Heaney, a primary focus of this course. Experience the landscape, the history and the cultural context in which these great works of literature were conceived and produced. From Dublin to Cork to Galway, students will visit museums, homes, libraries, literary centers and bookshops with direct connections to the literary production of this marvelous nation.

(3 cr. hrs., UD, Dr. Peter F. Murphy [pmurphy@murraystate.edu] Murray State University)

HEALTH CARE

"The Best of Times, the Worst of Times": A Tale of Two Countries' Health Systems

This course provides an overview of the continuum of care offered under the health care systems of Ireland and the United States. The continuum of care includes the following: public health/preventive care, primary care, ambulatory/out-patient services, acute care, post-acute care (long-term/nursing home care, home health care/durable medical equipment services, hospice and rehabilitative services), behavioral health services and organ donation practices. Key select aspects of each system--access, quality, cost and continuity--will be explored. Discussion will take place concerning important concepts associated with each system, including operating infrastructure, funding sources and policy-making resources.

(3 cr. hrs., LD/UD, Dr. John D. Rudnick, Jr. [jack.rudnick@thomasmore.edu] Thomas More College)

SONGWRITING/MUSIC BUSINESS

Lyric Writing in Ireland

Ireland has produced some of the world's greatest musical talent from the Chieftains to Van Morrison, Enya to U2, The Cranberries to Damien Rice, The Script, Luka Bloom and Moya Brennan. Come and explore the Irish musical traditions that influenced their songwriting. Walk the streets of Dublin and drink from the deep well of inspiration that flows from the Emerald Isle. You'll learn to write your own lyrics and engage your creative self. Field trips will include a visit to IMRO, The Irish Musical Rights Organization, to meet with some local singer/songwriters.

Prerequisite: Fundamentals of Commercial Songwriting I & II or consent of instructor

(3 cr. hrs., LD/UD, James Isaac Elliott [james.elliott@belmont.edu] Belmont University)

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

London--once the heart of the largest empire the world had ever seen, now a vibrant multi-cultural center for the arts, culture, commerce and education, is the capital of the United Kingdom and a wonderful lab for studying almost any subject one can imagine. However, this city where Florence Nightingale established the first secular school of nursing, part of what is now King's College London, where St. Bart's, the oldest teaching hospital in the British Isles makes it home, and where the modern hospice movement was born, is a particularly interesting place to study Health Care. London also lies at the center of both the government-managed National Health Service and the prestigious private medical practices of Harley Street. What better laboratory can there be to study and experience differences, not just between health care systems in the US and UK broadly, but more specifically, how we differ in our approaches to end of life issues from the patient, medical practitioner and social perspective?

By combining this intensive study abroad experience with an online component, which will begin four weeks before departure and conclude following the travel portion of the program, students may earn three semester hours of college credit. Please carefully read the Program Details section for additional information pertinent to all CCSA programs.

IMPORTANT NOTE REGARDING THIS PROGRAM:

This nursing course may be taken as a second class (along with a Group B selection) in the 4-week London Summer Program, which runs from July 10 - August 11. Students who wish to enroll in this course as part of the 4-week program will need to apply instead to the London Summer Program, NOT this 2-week London Health Care Program.

PROGRAM COSTS

For those making their own flight arrangements, the price of the London Health Care Program is $3095. Participants arranging their own air transportation must contact the CCSA Central Office before initiating travel arrangements and must file a copy of their flight itinerary with the office after reservations have been made. In making transportation arrangements please note that the in-country portion of the London Health Care Program begins and ends in London on July 11 and July 26, respectively. Airport transfers to and from the accommodation site are provided ONLY to those participants for whom CCSA has arranged air travel.

For those traveling on flights arranged by CCSA, the price of the London Health Care Program is $4295, which includes round-trip transportation from designated cities as well as airport transfers to and from the accommodation site.

Included in the program price for all participants are:

- accommodations and meals as detailed below
- ISIC (International Student Identification Card)
- some field trip and excursion-related expenses
- health and emergency evacuation insurance
- London Travelcards (subway and bus pass)
- BritRail Pass for travel by train within Britain

All prices are subject to change in the event of unanticipated increases in airfares, monetary exchange rates or other changes in program costs. In some cases, program items may be deleted in lieu of a price increase.

ACCOMMODATIONS & MEALS

Participants in the London Health Care Program reside in dormitories of the Hampstead Campus of King's College. While the standard price on this program is based on single occupancy, since the majority of rooms are single, some rooms with double occupancy may be available at reduced cost on a first come/first served basis. Please be aware that it may not be possible to accommodate all requests for double occupancy on this program and that the reduction in program price is not likely to exceed $150 per person.

The following meals, provided at the King's College Refectory on campus, are included in the program price: daily breakfast; lunch on Monday and Wednesday; dinner on Monday through Thursday; several meals on the arrival weekend.

ADDITIONAL COSTS

A minimum of $600 should be budgeted for meals and basic expenses not covered in the program price. Additionally, approximately $150 should be budgeted for textbooks, required course materials, and additional course-related transportation and entrance fees. Participants should also budget additional funds for personal expenses such as souvenirs and independent travel, based upon their individual spending habits.

Tuition is not included in the program costs detailed above. Please refer to Registration/Tuition & Fees in the Program Details section for additional information.

OPTIONAL TRIPS

London Health Care participants have the option, at additional cost, to participate in a weekend trip to Edinburgh, as well as a day trip to Stonehenge. Information about these trips--including price, a description of what is included, and how to sign up for them--will be provided after the program application deadline has passed. Before signing up for either of these trips, students should bear in mind that doing so will have an impact on time available for personal travel and exploration.

- EDINBURGH WEEKEND: Friday, July 18 - Sunday, July 20
- STONEHENGE & SALISBURY: Friday, July 25

Orientations for each optional excursion will be held at 4:45 p.m. on the Wednesday before departure.

NURSING/INTERDISCIPLINARY

Where's the Evidence? Using Research to Examine End-of-Life Care on Both Sides of the Pond

What can we learn about end-of-life care from our British colleagues? Visit the world famous Cochrane Collaboration at Oxford to learn how to evaluate current best evidence in making decisions about end-of-life care. Visit St. Christopher's Hospice, where Dame Cicely Saunders pioneered the modern hospice movement with her unique foundational belief: "you matter to the last moment of your life...we will help you, not only to die peacefully but to live until you die." Through careful examination of evidence, collaboration with British colleagues and learning gained from world-renowned palliative care centers, learn to identify best directions for guiding end-of-life care.

Prerequisite: Undergraduate level Statistics

(3 cr. hrs., UD/G Nursing/UD Interdisciplinary, Linda Cain, PhD, RN & Sherill Nones Cronin, PhD, RN-BC [lcain@bellarmine.edu & scronin@bellarmine.edu] Bellarmine University)

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Join CCSA in one of the most exciting and cosmopolitan cities on earth, a wonderful background against which to study a wide array of subjects. All roads may lead to Rome, but achievements in almost every field of human endeavor find their point of origin in London, the capital of what was once the largest empire in the world. Four weeks isn't enough to begin to experience all this city has to offer, but it's certainly enough to make a start. By making use of university housing and facilities at the Hampstead campus of the University of London's King's College, CCSA is able to offer a rich program that combines classroom and course-specific field trip activities, while leaving students free to explore parts of England by rail as well on weekends.

Please carefully read the Program Details section for additional information pertinent to all CCSA programs.

- ISIC (International Student Identification Card)
- some field trip and excursion-related expenses
- health and emergency evacuation insurance
- London Travelcards (subway and bus pass)
- BritRail Pass for travel by train within Britain

All prices are subject to change in the event of unanticipated increases in airfares, monetary exchange rates or other changes in program costs. In some cases, program items may be deleted in lieu of a price increase.

FEE TO ADD OPTIONAL SECOND CLASS: $500

ACCOMMODATIONS AND MEALS

Participants in the London Summer Program reside in dormitories of the Hampstead Campus of King's College. While the standard price on this program is based on single occupancy, since the majority of rooms are single, some rooms with double occupancy may be available at reduced cost on a first come/first served basis. Please be aware both that it may not be possible to accommodate all requests for double occupancy on this program and that the reduction in program price is not likely to exceed $300 per person.

The following meals, provided at the King's College Refectory on campus, are included in the program price: daily breakfast; lunch on Monday and Wednesdays, plus the Friday of final exams; dinner on Monday through Thursday; several meals on the arrival weekend.

ADDITIONAL COSTS

A minimum of $1200 should be budgeted for meals and basic expenses not covered in the program price. Additionally, approximately $200 - $250 should be budgeted for textbooks and other required course materials and/or excursion expenses specific to that course. Students enrolled in two classes should anticipate spending that amount for expenses associated with each class. Participants should also budget additional funds for personal expenses such as souvenirs and independent travel, based upon their individual spending habits.

Tuition is not included in the program costs detailed above. Please refer to Registration/Tuition & Fees in the Program Details section for additional information.

OPTIONAL TRIPS

CCSA also makes available to London Summer participants the option (at additional cost) to participate in two weekend trips to Edinburgh and Paris, as well as a day trip to Stonehenge and Salisbury. Information about these trips—including price, a description of what is included, and how to sign up for them—will be provided after the program application deadline has passed. Before signing up for any of these trips, students should bear in mind that doing so will have an impact on time available for personal travel and exploration. Students who elect to take two classes especially should give careful thought before signing up for more than one optional trip.

- EDINBURGH WEEKEND: Friday, July 18 - Sunday, July 20
- STONEHENGE & SALISBURY: Friday, July 25
- PARIS WEEKEND: Friday, August 1 - Sunday, August 3

Orientations for each optional excursion will be held at 4:45 p.m. on the Wednesday before departure.

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS:

The following courses are offered for this CCSA program. All program participants must register for one class and may elect to take a second at additional cost, as detailed in the Credit Options section. Students wishing to take two classes must take one Group A and one Group B class. Applicants may register for courses offered by professors from any member institution. Students are encouraged to email faculty to learn more about the classes.

Before applying for any course, refer to the course description regarding prerequisites. Course prerequisite(s) must be completed or, where applicable, waived by the course instructor, prior to the program's departure date.

CLASS SCHEDULE

Students wishing to take two classes must select one Group A course and one Group B course, as designated in the Course Descriptions section. To avoid schedule conflicts, courses meet according to the following weekly pattern.

Group A classes

- Monday mornings 9:00 - 12:00
- Wednesday afternoons 1:30 - 4:30
- Mandatory full day class field trips: July 15, 24, 29 and August 7

- Friday, August 8, final exams/evaluations: 1:30 - 4:30

APPAREL & TEXTILE DESIGN/MERCHANDISING Cross-Cultural Design, Merchandising & Marketing

In today's global business environment, designers, retailers, marketers and others must be aware of the preferences and needs of increasingly diverse consumers. The arts and business practices of other cultures also offer inspiration for the design of products, communications and business environments. This course explores several cultures through their arts, symbolism, and religious, social, political and economic systems as they relate to apparel and other products and to environments. Activities include visits to landmarks, museums, manufacturers and various retail venues, guest lectures, and hands-on experience with decorative techniques. Projects will reflect the participants' interests: design; visual merchandising; buying; marketing, communications, etc.

(3 cr. hrs., LD/UD, Dr. Phyllis Bell Miller [pbmiller@humansci.msstate.edu] Mississippi State University) Group A

ART HISTORY/DESIGN HISTORY Design in London

Apologies to Milan and Tokyo. Regrets to Stockholm and Paris. Forgive me Eindhoven, Berlin, Barcelona and, most particularly, New York. But London is the design capital of the world (The New York Times, 2012). From Baskerville to Banksy, from the origins of type-design to the cutting edge of design theory and practice, this course will examine the boundaries of design practice as social, commercial and political expression through a range of media and contexts.

Prerequisite: Art History Survey, Prehistory to Modern

(3 cr. hrs., UD, Prof. Matt Greenwell [matt-greenwell@utc.edu] University of Tennessee at Chattanooga) Group B

COMMUNICATIONS/LEADERSHIP STUDIES

Leadership London! Leadership Practices that Can Change the World

Leadership matters, something the English have experienced many times right up to the present day. If you want to make your mark on the world or simply make a difference on your campus or in your organization, the British models of leadership we will focus on in this class will teach you important lessons in leading well during times of crisis, change and opportunity. Examine five practices of exceptional leaders and how they shaped the life and leadership of pivotal British figures. Learn how to refine your own leadership, experience England and enjoy forays into maritime history, World War II, the age of invention, parliament and the monarchy and more!

COMMUNICATIONS/MEDIA STUDIES

British Media: It's Another World

British television has given us a wide variety of programming, from BBC News to Simon Cowell's American Idol (Pop Idol in England) and from the original versions of The Office, Real World and Big Brother to the immensely popular Downton Abbey with its more classical sensitivities. British newspapers shout with giant, provocative, attention-grabbing headlines. British radio has played a vital and continuing role in providing important information, as well as deep music playlists to its audiences. Add the powerful influence of British music on pop culture, and it's clear to see that media content in England is...well, British! British Media: It's Another World! is an unforgettable study abroad experience, during which we explore important media sites from London to Liverpool, while we give careful consideration to the ways media in the US and the UK impact us, both as citizens and consumers.

COMMUNICATIONS/SPEECH

Speaking of Britain

This is a chance to be your own tour guide. We will visit some of the most interesting places in Great Britain and at every stop members of our class will tell us about the place, the people who live(d) there and important things that happened there—places like Speaker's Corner, Blenheim Palace, Churchill's War Rooms and Longitude 0° 0' 0". In the process you will improve communication skills needed to advance your career and become a more fully engaged citizen. Special attention will be given to students who experience anxiety about speaking in public...you can learn to do it!

EDUCATION

No Tardis Necessary: A Whovian-like Exploration of Literacy Education

In this program, education students will travel through time and space to explore the intersection of language, literacy and culture in British school systems. Through school site visits and field trips to museums, theaters and historical London sites, students will investigate how British history and immigration patterns have influenced teaching practices in ways that are similar to and different from American practices.

Prerequisite: Introductory Education course, official admission to the Education major OR permission of the instructor

(3 cr. hrs., UD/G, Dr. Joy Bowers-Campbell [joy_bowers-campbell@georgetowncollege.edu] Georgetown College) Group B

ENGLISH

The London Underworlds & Otherworlds of Neil Gaiman & Alan Moore

Take a wild ride down the Tube and discover the secrets of 'London Below' depicted in Neil Gaiman's fantasy, Neverwhere. Dive into London's East End and trail Jack the Ripper through the gritty backstreet underworld featured in Alan Moore's graphic novel, From Hell. Discover why the Guy Fawkes mask from Moore's V for Vendetta has inspired Anonymous hacktivists and the Occupy movement. Students will explore how urban fantasist Neil Gaiman and graphic novelist Alan Moore have re-cast the geography of London into a cityscape at once darkly forbidding and fantastically alluring, thereby transforming a generation's perception of the storied metropolis.

Prerequisite: UD: completion of Lower Division Composition Requirements.

Graduate: acceptance into a graduate program in English or Course-related Discipline.

(3 cr. hrs., UD/G, Dr. Charles Sligh [charles-sligh@utc.edu] University of Tennessee at Chattanooga) Group A

Shakespeare's World

Travel back in time to Shakespeare's England. Experience performances of plays we're studying at the reconstructed Globe Theatre on the River Thames, at Stratford-upon-Avon and outdoors in Regent's Park. Visit Shakespeare's birthplace, grammar school and church in Stratford, as well as Elizabethan sites in and around London where Shakespeare's company performed his plays, such as Hampton Court Palace and Middle Temple Hall. Explore the literary, cultural and political significance of the writer BBC Radio recently named "Man of the Millennium."

Prerequisite: UD: one semester of college-level Freshman Composition.

Graduate: acceptance to a graduate program in English or related discipline.

(3 cr. hrs., UD/G, Ann Bliss [blissa@wou.edu] Western Oregon University) Group B

Mystery, Magic & Mayhem-- From Sherlock Holmes to Harry Potter

Why are we attracted to mysteries and enamored with detectives like Sherlock Holmes who solve them? Why do we envy Harry's magical powers? What do these figures tell us about our infatuation with the "rational/irrational," about power and about the culture from which they come? We will read the first "detective novel" in English literature, Wilkie Collins' The Moonstone, which influenced Charles Dickens' novels as well as Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's creation of Sherlock Holmes. We'll also study Holmes' stories, Stevenson's Jekyll & Hyde, Agatha Christie's Poirot and Miss Marple and end with some of Rowling's Harry Potter books--with references to Dickens along the way. We'll go see where the Harry Potter films were shot (Alnwick Castle and Oxford) and attend Christie's Mousetrap, the longest-running play ever in London to discover sites associated with our reading. We'll even do our own scavenger hunt! You could even come with me on the optional weekend trip to Edinburgh, home to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and J.K. Rowling. Don't miss out; as Holmes announces, "the game's afoot!"

Prerequisite: UD completion of lower division composition requirements.

Graduate: acceptance to a graduate program in English or related discipline.

(3 cr. hrs., UD/G, Dr. Annette M. Sisson [annette.sisson@belmont.edu] Belmont University) Group A

Sherlock Holmes' London: Mystery & the Metropolis

Find clues to Sherlock Holmes' enduring appeal while following his trail throughout London. Though Holmes is Arthur Conan Doyle's most intriguing character, an equally important "character" is London itself, with its labyrinthine streets and criminal underworld. We'll read the Sherlock Holmes stories alongside historical, literary and artistic accounts of Victorian London, including Jack the Ripper's East End. We'll explore Holmes' mysterious metropolis with visits to sites important to Conan Doyle, the Holmes stories, Victorian history and recent Sherlock films and shows. Potential field trips to sites important to Sherlock and Conan Doyle, including Edinburgh, Scotland; England's southern Coast; and Devonshire.

Prerequisite: one semester of lower-level literature ("Introduction to Literature," "Traditions in World Literature," etc.)

Graduate: acceptance into a graduate program in English or Course-related Discipline.

ENGLISH/HISTORY/INTERDISCIPLINARY

Keep Calm & Carry On: Life in Great Britain during World War II

It's been nearly 70 years since World War II ended in Great Britain, but that period of history remains shrouded in myth and legend. Come explore London, Coventry, Dover and other towns re-shaped by war, and see how civilians lived under the threat of bombs and possible invasion. We'll study the evacuation of nearly 2 million children from London to the countryside and follow the path of city girls who formed a land army to keep farms running. And, of course, we'll explore how the British "keep calm" spirit helped to shape modern Britain and its people.

Prerequisite: one semester of Freshman Composition
(3 cr. hrs., UD, Dr. Amy Tudor & Prof. Renee Culver [atudor@bellarmine.edu & rculver@bellarmine.edu] Bellarmine University) Group A

ENGLISH/INTERDISCIPLINARY

Modern Film & Multicultural London

It was once said that "the sun never sets on the British Empire," and while the Empire is no more, London remains one of the most cosmopolitan cities in the world. This course will delve into London's rich and complex multicultural landscape through the medium of film: movies like Bend It Like Beckham, Dr. No, Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince and East is East will provide insights into the conflicts, connections and transformations that define modern global experience. The class will incorporate visits to museums, film studios and unique sites in London ranging from Eltham Palace to Brick Lane to fully experience contemporary British film and culture.

Prerequisite: one semester of Freshman Composition
(3 cr. hrs., UD, Dr. Jennifer Barker [jbarker@bellarmine.edu] Bellarmine University) Group A

ENGLISH/JOURNALISM

Travel Writing In & About London

Document your London summer through the creative art of travel writing! We will travel about London above ground on red buses and underground on the "Tube" (subway), walk London parks, mingle among crowds at colorful markets, boat on the Thames River to the royal palace of Hampton Court and ride Britrail into the English countryside. By reading travel literature about London and Great Britain, researching specific sites and writing about our own experiences, we will gain a deeper understanding of the British people and a greater appreciation for London. Consider the difference between the tourist with a camera only and the travel writer with a camera and all the words of the English language!

Prerequisite: one semester of Freshman Composition
(3 cr. hrs., LD/UD, Mr. Paul G. Ellis [ellis@nku.edu] Northern Kentucky University) Group B

ENGLISH/RELIGIOUS STUDIES

C. S. Lewis, J. R. R. Tolkien & the Inklings

The Inklings (including C.S. Lewis and J.R.R. Tolkien) was a Christian/fantasy writing group that met in Oxford, where we will visit the Eagle and Child pub, the colleges and the Inklings' homes. From the pens of Lewis and Tolkien came not only The Lord of the Rings, The Hobbit, and Mere Christianity, but also some of the 20th Century's most enduring scholarship, apologetics and imaginative mythologies. This course will allow you to gain a complete understanding of the works of Lewis and Tolkien in their cultural context of early 20th century Britain haunted by the European wars.

Prerequisite: one semester Freshman Composition or First Year Seminar
(3 cr. hrs., LD/UD, Dr. Jonathan Thorndike [jonathan.thorndike@belmont.edu] Belmont University) Group B

GEOGRAPHY

The Geography of Europe

Study the geography of Europe and the British Isles while experiencing the culture and visiting places of interest in person. See the cities, mountains, coasts and pastoral countryside, as well as locations that are noteworthy for their cultural, political and historical significance. Students will have classroom lecture addressing all aspects of the geography of Europe, with special emphasis on the British Isles. Day field trips will include London, Dover, Canterbury, Oxford or Cambridge and others. Don't miss the opportunity to live geography, not just study it!

HISTORY

Bodies & Knowledge: Making Medicine Modern in Victorian Britain & Beyond

In this course we will examine the transformation of medicine that took place in Great Britain from roughly 1832 to 1920. At the heart of our course is a question: What role did British imperialism play in the development of nineteenth and early twentieth century medicine in London? To answer this question, students will engage in an investigative endeavor involving the physical and cultural landscape of London, as well as independent research developed out of course readings. Students will have an opportunity to learn about the development of several different medical fields, including pharmaceuticals, surgery, dentistry, nursing and epidemiology. We will utilize London's architectural and cultural resources, particularly museums, as well as sources from the time period, including letters, pamphlets, cartoons and newspaper articles to examine the professionalization of medicine in nineteenth and early twentieth century Britain. At the end of the course, students will develop a deeper understanding of the relationship between Britain and its empire and how this relationship enabled the development of modern Western medicine.

(3 cr. hrs., LD/UD, Dr. Rachel Constance [rconstance@walsh.edu] Walsh University) Group B

INTERIOR DESIGN/ARCHITECTURAL HISTORY

Visual Reality: A History of Interiors & the Decorative Arts in England

Experience the wonders of the ancient decorative arts. This will not be a virtual reality class experience but one of visual reality. Enjoy viewing actual castles, churches, houses and interiors designed by world famous architects and interior designers. Learning and understanding furniture styles, designers and accessories of period interiors and cultures becomes an easy task with information gathered from trips in and around London to museums and famous architectural structures. Absorb the centuries of history, and depart with a knowledge and experience that will be your reference point for design in the 21st century.

(3 cr. hrs., UD, Professor Beth Miller [bmillier@caad.msstate.edu] Mississippi State University) Group A

MUSIC/FINE ARTS

Celebs of the British Choral Tradition: A Survey from William Byrd to John Rutter

London provides a fitting backdrop to survey Britain's rich choral music history, and its celebrated composers. Beginning with the early English Madrigal through contemporary composers such as John Rutter, students will explore British choral music through the lenses of lecture, listening, presentations, concert attendance and written critique, and excursions to relevant historical sites.

(3 cr. hrs., LD/UD, Dr. Jeffery Ames [jeffery.ames@belmont.edu] Belmont University) Group B

NURSING/INTERDISCIPLINARY

Intercultural Understanding & Communication Relevant to the Delivery of Culturally Competent Care

London is the melting pot of languages and cultures. In this course we will examine how the multicultural nature of London affects health care delivery, as we discuss emerging trends in health care education and cultural and health care beliefs, values and ethics relating to health care professions and decision-making in health care practice. We will also analyze educational issues relevant to the delivery of culturally competent care and analyze legal and ethical issues in local and global health care settings.

(3 cr. hrs., LD Nursing/UD Interdisciplinary, Mrs. Patty Ingle, MSW, MA, LHFA [pingle@bellarmine.edu] Bellarmine University) Group B

Important Note Regarding the Following Course:

The London portion of the following course, "Where's the Evidence," is only two weeks long, ending on July 26. Students who enroll in this class will be required to complete both pre- and post-program assignments, a portion of which will be online starting four weeks before the London portion.

If taken as part of the London Summer Program, this course MUST be taken as a second class (along with a Group B selection). Students who wish to enroll ONLY in this course must instead apply for admission to the 2-week London Health Care Program.

Where's the Evidence? Using Research to Examine End-of-Life Care on Both Sides of the Pond

What can we learn about end-of-life care from our British colleagues? Visit the world famous Cochrane Collaboration at Oxford to learn how to evaluate current best evidence in making decisions about end-of-life care. Visit St. Christopher's Hospice, where Dame Cicely Saunders pioneered the modern hospice movement with her unique foundational belief: "you matter to the last moment of your life...we will help you, not only to die peacefully but to live until you die." Through careful examination of evidence, collaboration with British colleagues and learning gained from world-renowned palliative care centers, learn to identify best directions for guiding end-of-life care.

PHILOSOPHY

Biomedical & Research Ethics

Should doctors always tell the whole truth and nothing but? Do patients across the world have the same needs for autonomy, confidentiality and informed consent? Why are HIV/AIDS, malaria and swine flu worldwide ethical concerns? Universal health care: who has it, who doesn't and why? From accounting and art to theology and zoology, students of any major will gain a broad perspective on biomedical and research ethics in this course. By visiting science museums and health care facilities and experiencing London's multiculturalism, we'll prepare ourselves for philosophical explorations of cloning, euthanasia, human experimentation, stem cell research and other thought-provoking topics.

(3 cr. hrs., LD, Dr. Catherine Sherron [catherine.sherron@thomasmore.edu] Thomas More College) Group B

Magic & Science in Elizabethan England

In this course we will study real magic in Queen Elizabeth's England. We will read the works of Sorcerers and Occult philosophers, visit Stonehenge and see actual instruments used in 16th century magical rituals in the British Museum. We will look at magic in Shakespeare's plays and visit Shakespeare's birthplace, Stratford-upon-Avon, and see multiple live productions at the Globe Theatre and elsewhere. Finally, we will study the development of modern science out of magic and alchemy through a study of Sir Francis Bacon, a remarkable polymath. We will track his legacy from Gray's Inn to the Royal Observatory. If you want to explore magic, Shakespeare and the intellectual culture of Elizabethan England, don't miss this class!

PSYCHOLOGY/SOCIOLOGY

Sex, Drugs & Rock 'n' Roll: Music & Drug Subcultures in the US & the UK

The "Mods" used amphetamines to stay up all weekend listening to music. In swinging London and 60's San Francisco, hippies glorified psychedelic music, psychedelic drugs and free love. Raves ran on ecstasy, the "love drug." Why are many subcultures defined by their music and drugs of choice? Are they trying to establish identity, seek spiritual awakening, respond to oppression or just have fun? Using historical and contemporary subcultures as examples, we will explore biological, psychological and sociological factors that may explain how music, sexuality and drugs help define identity for groups that are (willingly or unwillingly) separate from majority culture. Prerequisite: Introduction to Psychology or General Psychology or Introduction to Sociology

THEATRE/CREATIVE WRITING/HONORS

All the World's a Stage

This summer, London is your muse and your stage. We'll immerse ourselves in this theatre wonderland, experiencing the raw emotion and magic of live shows and analyzing the literary genius of classic writers like Shakespeare and modern artists like Jez Butterworth. Armed with a new understanding of the basic elements of playwriting and surrounded by inspiration, you'll take up the bardic tradition and write your own short play.

(3 cr. hrs., UD, Ms. Kristin Hornsby [hornsbyk1@nku.edu] Northern Kentucky University) Group A

THEATRE/ENGLISH/INTERDISCIPLINARY

British Playwrights & Their Influence on the American Stage

This course concentrates on several British playwrights. Through readings and discussions of the playwrights' works we will understand why they have become part of both the British and the American stage repertoire. We'll have the opportunity to attend live performances at renowned theatre companies such as The Globe, The Old Vic, The National Theatre, The Hampstead Theatre and at The West End. Visits and tours to Stratford-upon-Avon, Cambridge, Oxford, The Theatre Museum, Shakespeare's Globe, The Tower of London, The Gallery and Harry Potter Studios, as well as famous historical markets will be part of the class activities.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Join CCSA on the Scotland Health and Human Services Program as we explore the cultural, historic and professional factors that have shaped the practice of these fields in the cities of Edinburgh, Glasgow and Inverness, as well as in the villages, highlands and lowlands of the northernmost nation in the British Isles. Known best for its beautiful landscape, historic castles and picturesque villages, Scotland has also been a center of learning, religious conflict and social reform for hundreds of years. Both the oldest medical training center and the oldest medical school in Great Britain were established in Scotland. Important scientific discoveries--anesthesia, antiseptics, penicillin, insulin and cloning--all began in Scotland. Several of the UK's largest schools of Nursing and Midwifery call Scotland home, and the University of Edinburgh is one of the great centers for medical, nursing and social welfare research. The last 50 years have seen major social welfare initiatives in Scotland that have affected the practice of social work across the country. On this program participants will have an opportunity to study and observe nursing, health care and social work practice, policy, training and research on a national and local level.

By combining this intensive study abroad experience with course-specific directed study activities preceding and/or following the travel portion of the program, students may earn three semester hours of college credit. Please carefully read the Program Details section for additional information pertinent to all CCSA programs.

NURSING

Nursing Leadership & Management in Scotland

Come to Scotland and see firsthand a true universal health care system. Experience the excitement of interacting with nurse leaders on the frontline of health care delivery in a country rich with history and culture. Tour health care facilities, explore the educational preparation of nurses and speak to the consumers of health care. Don't miss this opportunity to travel to one the most beautiful and culturally rich countries in the world.

Prerequisite: Upper Division of nursing

NURSING/SOCIAL WORK

Health Care & Social Work in Scotland: The Old, the New & the Invisible

This study abroad travel class will focus on experiential learning as students explore the state and history of health care and social services in Scotland. Students will visit historical sites and health and social welfare institutions in Edinburgh where they will have the opportunity to interact with health care and social work professionals and local consumers of such services while learning about the diverse roles of social services and health care providers. Students will explore the health care of the vulnerable and the invisible (seniors, homeless, poor). Visits to historical sites and museums—such as Museum of Childhood, Anatomical Museum, workhouse tour, Edinburgh Castle and Museum of Edinburgh—will be included.

(3 cr. hrs., UD/G, Janelle Peeler & Dr. Myra "Susan" Jones [jan.peeler@wku.edu & susan.jones@wku.edu] Western Kentucky University)

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

For centuries writers and painters alike have tried to capture the essence of what William Blake called this “green and pleasant land” and Shakespeare termed “this sceptered isle...this other Eden... this blessed plot, this realm, this England.” All too often, though, visitors to England spend time only in and around the magnificent metropolis of London, never experiencing the beauty and history of England’s rural villages, castles, fields and forests. On this program, revel in the opportunity to immerse yourself in both the green and pleasant lands surrounding Stratford-upon-Avon, the birthplace of that greatest of all English writers: William Shakespeare, and the excitement of London, home to the Tower and the Globe. You will also attend plays in theatres old and new, visit the ancient centre of learning at Oxford, visit such aristocratic residences as Blenheim Palace and Coughton Court, take an extended excursion through the Lake District and enjoy all that England has to offer.

By combining this intensive study abroad experience with course-specific directed study activities preceding and/or following the travel portion of the program, students may earn three semester hours of college credit.

Please carefully read the Program Details section for additional information pertinent to all CCSA programs.

ENGLISH/THEATRE/DRAMA

The Shakespearience of a Lifetime: Studying the Bard in His Own Backyard

All the world's a stage, but in Shakespeare's case, it was divided between his birthplace, Stratford-upon-Avon and London. The charming town of Stratford-upon-Avon and the surrounding picturesque Cotswolds villages provide an idyllic setting for studying, viewing and discussing the works of the world's most eminent playwright. We will prepare close readings and analyses of at least two plays and discuss various aspects of theater, including staging, directing, costuming, art direction, lighting, music and performance. In addition to seeing at least two Royal Shakespeare Company (RSC) plays and touring the newly renovated RSC Theatre, you will visit well-known sites such as the house on Henley Street, where Shakespeare was born, and Holy Trinity Church, where Shakespeare is laid to rest. We will visit the home of his mother Mary Arden in Wilmcote and his wife Anne Hathaway's cottage in Shottery. Tentative field trips include a visit to Warwick Castle, Blenheim Palace (filming site for Kenneth Branagh's Hamlet), Coughton Court, and Oxford University. Following our stay in Stratford-upon-Avon, we will travel north to visit England's scenic Lake District, home to the Romantic poets who were influenced by Shakespeare's exquisite verse. From the Lake District, we will journey south to fabulous London, revel in its iconic sites and enjoy a performance at Shakespeare's bankside Globe Theatre, Britain's National Theatre, or the new Sam Wanamaker Playhouse. Join me on this excellent adventure and live the Shakespearience of a lifetime as you study the Bard in his own backyard!

Prerequisite: completion of lower-division freshman composition and World Literature

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The Surrey Satellite Imaging Program, the most recent addition to CCSA's slate of offerings, grew out of a partnership between CCSA member school, Mississippi State University, and the Surrey Space Centre. The Centre, which originated at the University of Surrey in 1979, now provides students and researchers with an unparalleled opportunity to engage in research brought to practical, commercial ends through its relationship with spin-off company, Surrey Satellite Technology. Program participants will gain exposure to world class space science and satellite engineering, through visits to and guest lectures from this world leading research center for small, low cost space missions. The course's specific focus on satellite imaging technology has a wide array of applications for students of engineering, biological and earth sciences, and computer technology, while a base in Guildford allows student to experience both the beautiful countryside of the Surrey Hills and real English town life. Guildford's location just 30 miles southwest of London also provides opportunities to explore not just one of the great cities of the world but the rest of Great Britain.

Classes meet Monday through Friday at the Surrey Space Centre, with several day trips planned for the weekends. By combining this intensive study abroad experience with course-specific directed study activities preceding and/or following the travel portion of the program, students may earn three semester hours of college credit.

SURREY SATELLITE IMAGING

DATES: MAY 17, 2014 – JUNE 7, 2014

PRICE: $3295 WITHOUT AIRFARE; $4495 INCLUDING AIRFARE

APPLICATION DEADLINE: February 21, 2014

EARLY APPLICATION DEADLINE: $100 discount for applications received by February 7, 2014

CREDIT: 3 hours

PROGRAM COSTS

For those making their own flight arrangements, the price of the Surrey Satellite Imaging Program is $3295. Participants arranging their own air transportation must contact the CCSA Central Office before initiating travel arrangements and must file a copy of their flight itinerary with the office after reservations have been made. In making transportation arrangements please note that the in-country portion of the Surrey Satellite Imaging Program begins and ends in Guildford, Surrey on May 18 and June 7, respectively. Airport transfers to and from the accommodation site are provided ONLY to those participants for whom CCSA has arranged air travel.

For those traveling on flights arranged by CCSA, the price of the Surrey Satellite Imaging Program is $4495, which includes round-trip transportation from designated cities as well as airport transfers to and from the accommodation site.

Included in the program price for all participants are:

- internal transportation between program sites
- accommodations
- ISIC (International Student Identification Card)
- most program excursions
- health and emergency evacuation insurance
- daily breakfast and some additional meals

All prices are subject to change in the event of unanticipated increases in airfares, monetary exchange rates or other changes in program costs. In some cases, program items may be deleted in lieu of a price increase.

ADDITIONAL COSTS

Most meals, other than breakfast, are at the participant's own expense. A minimum of $700 should be budgeted for meals and additional course-related transportation and entrance fees not covered in the program price. Additionally, approximately $150 should be budgeted for textbooks and other required course materials. Participants should also budget additional funds for personal expenses such as souvenirs and independent travel, based upon their individual spending habits.

Tuition is not included in the program costs detailed above. Please refer to Registration/Tuition & Fees in the Program Details section for additional information.

ACCOMMODATIONS

Participants in the Surrey Satellite Imaging Program reside at the Guildford YMCA in single en-suite rooms.

PAYMENT SCHEDULE & DEADLINES

Applicants are encouraged to apply well in advance of the February 21, 2014 application deadline, as priority is given to early applications. Applications submitted on or before February 7, 2014 receive a $100 deduction in the program price, reflected in a reduced application fee, due at time of application.

- Non-refundable Application Fee: $200 if received on or before February 7, 2014; $300 for applications received after February 7, 2014. The application fee, which must be paid by credit card at time of application, serves as a deposit toward the overall program price.
- First Payment: $2200 due on March 7, 2014.
- Final Payment: $1995 for those traveling with the CCSA group, $795 for those making their own arrangements, due on April 4, 2014.

Effective October 1, 2013: As a 501(c)3 educational organization, CCSA will be assessing a 3% surcharge on all credit card transactions. This surcharge will be automatically added to each credit card payment.

Please familiarize yourself with the Payment Information and Cancellation Policy in the Program Details section.

Shortly after submission of the online application and fee and completion of the local CCSA Campus Representative Approval Recommendation, applicants will receive an application approval notification. During the online application process, students from non-consortium schools will receive instruction regarding additional application requirements.

An official letter of acceptance into the program will be sent electronically approximately three weeks after the program application deadline, at which time final approval of course selection will be confirmed in your online application.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Following is a description of the course of study offered for this CCSA program. Applicants from any member institution may register for this course. Students are encouraged to email faculty to learn more about the class. Course prerequisite(s) must be completed or, where applicable, waived by the course instructor, prior to the program's departure date.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING/ SATELLITE IMAGING

Introduction to Satellite Imaging of the Earth

Study how satellites view and measure properties on Earth using visible light, infrared and thermal energy, imaging radar and lasers. Learn how this technology is applied to: disaster response, precision agriculture, geology and forestry. Fundamentals of electromagnetic radiation are presented without extensive mathematics (no calculus). Students will tour the Surrey Space Center and the Surrey Satellite Technology company where satellites are manufactured and controlled in orbit. Side trips to Stonehenge and London, with visits to the Royal Observatory and the British Museum, are included.

Prerequisite: Basic Physics, algebra and trigonometry

APPLICATION & ADMISSION

All undergraduate and graduate students in good standing are eligible to participate in any CCSA program. Application to CCSA programs must be submitted online through our website at www.ccsa.cc, which will guide applicants through easy-to-follow step-by-step instructions for the application process and submitting the required application fee. Acceptance to the program for eligible applicants will be based upon date of submission, together with application fee. For some courses of study, specific prerequisites may also have a bearing on acceptance.

Students from non-CCSA member institutions must provide to the CCSA Central Office an official transcript and the Study Abroad Approval Form from their home institution, together with a faculty letter of recommendation, before their application can be acted upon. Following acceptance to the CCSA Program, these students will receive information on how to apply as transient students to Belmont University, CCSA's Host Institution and School of Record.

Applicants are encouraged to apply well in advance of the Application Deadline, with applications submitted prior to the Early Application Deadline, as specified in the Payment Schedule & Deadlines section of each program, receiving a $100 reduction in the overall program price, reflected in a reduced application fee. Application fees, which must be paid online via credit or debit card at time of application, are applied towards the total program price. Please visit our website to access our online payment page.

Shortly after submission of the online application and fee and completion of the local CCSA Campus Representative Approval Recommendation (or receipt of the additional materials specified above for applicants from non-CCSA member institutions), applicants will receive an application approval notification. An official letter of acceptance into the program will be sent electronically approximately three weeks after the program application deadline. At this time, applicants will be required to submit additional materials, including such items as a copy of the photo page of their passport, and completed Health Form. Detailed information about submission of these and any other required forms will be provided via our online application system.

Generally a minimum of 12 students is required for a class to be included in a CCSA program. Should recruitment fall below 12 as of the application deadline, the course may be cancelled. In the event a student's course is cancelled, the student's enrollment will be changed to his/her alternate course (as indicated on the original application) if space is available in the specified course. If no alternate has been selected, the CCSA Central Office will contact the student, at which time he/she may either choose another alternate course or withdraw from the program and receive a full refund of payments made to CCSA.

REGISTRATION/TUITION & FEES

All courses offered by CCSA require an academic commitment from students. Courses are listed as LD (lower division--introductory/intermediate level), UD (upper division--advanced level) and G (graduate), and the level of work required for successful completion of the course will be commensurate with the level assigned.

Students will be expected to complete assignments on time and to attend all program and class-related events. Many courses will require work, such as reading and/or short writing assignments, to be completed prior to the program departure date. Courses on programs of less than four weeks duration will require completion and submission of projects and/or research papers after the return date of the program.

It is the student's responsibility to consult with his/her academic advisor prior to submission of his/her application to insure that the CCSA course is academically appropriate for the student's needs, e.g., major or graduation requirements. Should a change in course selection be required or requested, it is the responsibility of the student to confirm the appropriateness of that course to the student's program of study and degree requirements.

Students from CCSA member institutions must register for courses through their home institution. The CCSA member institutions, whenever possible, identify comparable courses at each institution for those taught by faculty from other member universities. Only in the event that the requested course is not available at the student's home institution may a student from one member institution be permitted to register through another CCSA institution. Students should contact their institution's CCSA representative or the CCSA Central Office at Belmont University for details about registration procedures.

Tuition and fees will be assessed in accordance with the policy of the member institution and are in addition to the CCSA program prices. Tuition scholarships are available at some member institutions. Students are encouraged to check with campus representatives regarding tuition fees and policies at their institutions.

Students from institutions outside the consortium must register as transient students at Belmont University. In addition to the program price paid to CCSA, these students will pay tuition fees to Belmont University. For specific information, please contact the CCSA Central Office. It is the responsibility of these students to request a transfer of credit to their home institution after the program has ended.

PAYMENT INFORMATION

The application fee, which serves as a deposit toward the overall program price, must be paid by credit card (MasterCard or Visa) at time of application. Subsequent program payments may be made by credit card or by check/money order. To inquire about other payment options, please email finance@ccsa.cc.

Credit card payments may be made online (via the www.ccsa.cc Payment Information link). EFFECTIVE OCTOBER 1, 2013: As a 501(c)3 educational organization, CCSA will be assessing a 3% surcharge to all credit card transactions. This surcharge will be automatically added to each credit card payment.

Checks or money orders should be mailed to the CCSA Central Office at the following address: CCSA, Belmont University, 1900 Belmont Blvd, Nashville TN 37212.

CANCELLATION POLICY

An applicant can cancel his/her planned participation in a CCSA program by notifying the CCSA Central office immediately via email data@ccsa.cc. The level of refund for cancelled program participation varies according to specific circumstances, as detailed below:

- Individuals who cancel before or on the application deadline will receive a full refund of any monies paid to CCSA, minus the non-refundable application fee.
- Individuals who cancel after the application deadline and before/on the first payment deadline will forfeit the non-refundable application fee and will also be responsible for any unrecoverable expenses* incurred by CCSA on their behalf.
- Individuals who cancel after the first payment deadline and more than 45 days before departure will forfeit the non-refundable application fee plus 10% of the program price and will also be responsible for any unrecoverable expenses incurred by CCSA on their behalf.
- London Summer ONLY: Individuals who elect to take a second class then drop one of two classes after the first payment deadline will forfeit the $500 second class fee plus any unrecoverable course-specific expenses that may have been paid by the time of withdrawal.
- Individuals who cancel 45 days or less before the program's scheduled departure will be charged an administrative cancellation fee of $300, in addition to the loss of the non-refundable application fee, 10% of the program price, and any unrecoverable expenses incurred by CCSA on their behalf.
- Should CCSA cancel an applicant's requested program/course before departure and the applicant not elect to participate in an alternate course or program, a full refund, including the application fee, will be issued to the applicant.
- Should CCSA terminate a program in progress for health or safety reasons all program payments to CCSA less non-recoverable expenses will be refunded.
- Participants who withdraw from or who are involuntarily removed from a program already in progress shall remain responsible for the full cost of the program.

*In order to obtain the best possible prices, CCSA often must contract for goods and services such as airline tickets, housing, transportation passes, entrances, etc. far in advance of the program date. Cancellation or adjustment of these contracts will sometimes result in unrecoverable expenses.

Note: the foregoing standards also apply to applicants whose participation is involuntarily canceled by CCSA due to the applicant's failure to remain in good standing or complete required preconditions for participation, such as holding a valid passport, completing visa requirements (where applicable) in a timely fashion, etc.

TRIP CANCELLATION INSURANCE

Applicants are strongly encouraged to consider purchasing trip cancellation insurance. This insurance is available through most travel agencies or by doing a web search for trip cancellation insurance. Student and Faculty applicants are encouraged to contact STA Travel for information about the low cost travel insurance available to them in connection with the ISIC card provided by CCSA.

SCHOLARSHIPS & FINANCIAL AID

Each member institution may have scholarships available for study abroad. Through its member institutions, CCSA sponsors the Michael A. Klembara Scholarship Program, with individual institutions setting their own policies for the awarding of these funds. Applicants from non-consortium schools are encouraged to apply through the CCSA Central Office for the Michael and Linda Klembara Scholarship for Non-Consortium Students.

CCSA program courses are part of the regular course offerings of member institutions; therefore, students may apply for any student loans or grants for which they would normally have eligibility. The campus representative will assist students needing information about financial aid. The CCSA Central Office notifies financial aid offices at member institutions of program prices. It is imperative that students applying for financial aid apply well before the application deadline dates in order to facilitate the financial aid process. MasterCard and Visa are accepted for program payments.

HEALTH & EMERGENCY EVACUATION INSURANCE

As part of the program price, participants are provided limited health insurance for the duration of their study abroad program. Coverage for situations occurring during the policy period includes sickness, injury, emergency medical evacuation, emergency reunion, accidental death and dismemberment and repatriation of remains. Details of coverage will be sent to participants upon receipt of the CCSA program application.

CCSA strongly urges all individuals to receive a physical examination prior to participation in a study abroad program. A physical examination is required of all participants in the Internship and the Semester in England programs. Prescriptions for any medications taken regularly should be filled before leaving the U.S.

PHYSICAL ACTIVITY

There is no better way to absorb the culture and experience a new country than to WALK! CCSA programs can be physically demanding, especially for participants who are not used to walking. If you can walk at least 3 miles without stopping and climb 2-3 (long) flights of stairs without getting short of breath, you probably are fit enough to tolerate what you can expect to encounter on most study abroad programs.

To get in shape, you should begin an exercise program at least six weeks before your study abroad program begins. If you have health problems or have not previously participated in an exercise program, you may need to consult your health care provider first for advice.

Once abroad, you may find yourself walking five or more miles each day, so it is also a good idea to break in new walking shoes. If you wait until you arrive at your destination brand new shoes may equate to brand new blisters.

PASSPORT/VISA

The U.S. State Department recommends, hence CCSA requires, passports be valid for a minimum of six months beyond the date you return to the U.S. Participants not in possession of a current passport should apply for one immediately. Passport processing can take 4-6 weeks. Please review individual program details for further information, as a few of CCSA's programs require specific visas. Please contact your local post office to obtain information regarding passport application and processing.

Additional information from the CCSA Central Office will be shared with those individuals who are participating in programs to countries where visitor visas are required of U.S. citizens.

Non-U.S. citizens should contact their home-country embassy in the United States, as well as the embassy or consulate of the country to which they are traveling, to determine which documents are needed to enter CCSA destination countries. They should also contact the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Service to find out which documents are needed to re-enter the United States and whether their leaving the United States is likely to have an adverse effect upon their U.S. resident status.
